Drum roll please.

Ladies and gentlemen, sit down, buckle up and get ready for the fastest, most stylish, feature-packed Mitsubishi blog online.

Run by the good people at Heidelberg Mitsubishi, this is our company's new space for sharing great ideas, tips and news on the latest Mitsubishi news, not to mention outstanding offers and opportunities exclusive to our dealership.

A long time in the making, our Mitsubishi blog is an extension of the conversations we have with customers face-to-face every day. Through this blog, we'll answer your questions, highlight new technologies and spread the word about what's happening amongst our community and beyond.

But we're getting ahead of ourselves - you're probably still wondering who we are...

Heidelberg Mitsubishi is a family-owned business, run and managed by a team of locals for more than 30 years. As you may have guessed we specialise in selling new Mitsubishi and Ralliart models, but we also stock a vast range of quality pre-owned cars - all backed by a complementary five year unlimited kilometre warranty.

Positioned amongst historic Heidelberg surrounds - in one of Melbourne's oldest municipalities, our dealership is often first on the list for customers not only purchasing cars, but for servicing and aftermarket accessories too. As part of a changeover of ownership in early 2014, we've embarked on a fresh approach towards our interaction with customers and this latest Mitsubishi blog is just one part of our new plans.

So, you've probably got a good idea about why we've started this Mitsubishi blog - but why should you read it?

Here are three reasons to subscribe to our fortnightly ramblings:

1. Save Money - Want to know how to slash your fuel consumption, keep your car running longer, pay less for insurance and other penny-pinching tips and tricks? You can find out here.

2. Get The Goss - From model upgrades, to the launch of new technology and important information about the safety of your car - we'll keep you in the know.

3. Keep Your Eyes On The Prize - With heaps of outstanding deals, competitions and offers on the horizon, keeping an eye on our posts means you'll never miss your chance to score!

So there you have it, a Mitsubishi blog with all the trimmings - we hope you enjoy it. Stay tuned for our next entry, or connect with us on Facebook and Twitter for more regular contact.
